Venture Technologies

Press Release

Venture Technologies helps local music artist.

Every musical artists needs their start, but they need a professional brand and image first.

Stillwater, MN, March 29, 2010: Venture Technologies has been working with singer/songwriter/musician, Tom Prestin, on creating a professional web presence for him and giving him the jump start he needed to capture the world's eye. His site went live on March 20, 2010 and has been a great success.

Tom knew after generating national attention that getting to the next level would require more than just stage presences and radio play, but he needed to establish that he was doing more, and that his abilities and music call for serious industry attention. He met with Venture Technologies to discuss a website. He needed a design that was simple but would be pleasing to the broad audience that his music appeals to.

Now that Tom's site is live, he can update it with what he is doing, where he is going, his new music, videos, and news, all in one place, and easy to find. You can visit his site at www.tomprestin.com
